Unit Duration: Semester 1, 2024

EAL/D stands for English as an Additional Language or Dialect. EAL/D teaching is a specialised field of education concerned with teaching English to learners who do not have English as their first language. ACT Public Schools use the Australian Curriculum EAL/D Learning Progression framework to describe EAL/D learners' phases of English language proficiency. Student progress is tracked using the ACT EAL/D Observation Guides which align to the Progression.

Australian Curriculum EAL/D Learning Progression:

Beginning: Students who are learning foundational skills in oral and written English. These students are usually in an intensive English course.

Emerging: Students who have a growing degree of print literacy and oral language competency with English. These students receive specific EAL/D support to access the Australian Curriculum.

Developing: Students who are further developing their knowledge of print literacy and oral language competency in English. These students receive parallel support in subject classes, and may receive specific EAL/D support to access the Australian Curriculum.

Consolidating: Students who have a sound knowledge of spoken and written English, including a growing competency in academic language. These students receive support from their mainstream teachers to consolidate and extend their subject specific language.

Unit Description:

In Australian schools, learning is accessed and achievement is demonstrated through English. English language proficiency is essential for students to access and demonstrate capability in all subjects of the Australian Curriculum. EAL/D as a subject is designed to support English language learners, particularly those assessed at the Emerging and Developing phases on the EAL/D Learning Progression, to access the content and demonstrate achievement in Australian Curriculum subjects through supporting and supplementing English language teaching in these subjects.

Over the semester, students will work with a high level of teacher support to better understand the academic language they are exposed to within other high school subject areas. Throughout the semester, there will be a recurring focus on three main areas:

Components of Language: Students develop their understanding of punctuation, grammar and vocabulary and their ability to use these to proof-read and edit their own and other's work to facilitate smooth communication of ideas.

Composition: Students develop their ability to construct increasingly complex grammatical sentences, structure cohesive paragraphs, and put together complete compositions in various genres, both written and spoken.

Comprehension: Students grow in their ability to comprehend increasingly complex texts, both written and verbal of various genres, and to interpret these at increasingly deeper levels.

Essential Learning Outcomes developed from the Australian Curriculum EAL/D Learning Progression:

At the beginning of the Beginning English Phase students:

1. Begin to understand common instructions, basic questions, short instructions, and the gist of explanations in familiar context and in areas related to their prior knowledge and experience. (Listening)
2. Attempt to communicate using a mixture of non-verbal and first language utterances, and some common isolated words and formulaic expressions. (Speaking)
3. Understand that print transmits ideas, and will attempt to decode simple English words, using the letter-sound relationship. (Reading)
4. Copy English words the encounter in the classroom, with limited understanding of meaning. (Writing)

At the beginning of the Emerging English Phase students:

1. Understand familiar instructions and information in a variety of classroom situations. (Listening)
2. Communicate simply in a variety of familiar classroom contexts (Speaking)
3. Interprets simple, culturally accessible texts (Reading)
4. Produce basic classroom and social texts following highly structured examples (Writing)

At the beginning of the Developing English Phase students:

1. Exhibit accepted listening behaviours and interpret meaning in familiar situations (Listening)
2. Generally participate appropriately in classroom routines (e.g. group work) and are producing original utterances rather than relying on formulaic and learned language (Speaking)
3. Read simple texts independently and begin to understand the gist of most class texts independently (Reading)
4. Write for a range of classroom purposes with varying grammatical accuracy, although they still exhibit first language influence (Writing)

At the beginning of the Consolidating English Phase students:

1. Understand most of the information they encounter on a daily basis within the school environment. (Listening)
2. Communicate confidently and effectively in most situations, although some first language influence may still be evident in nonverbal communication. (Speaking)
3. Understand literal and inferential in most classroom texts. (Reading)
4. Create a wide range of types of text used across the curriculum with limited support, showing variation in their writing according to context, audience and purpose. (Writing)

Materials and Equipment Required: Students are expected to arrive at every class with a class book/folder to write notes for that subject, a writing instrument and a Chromebook or similar, appropriate electronic device. Students are required to provide the following additional materials and equipment: Class text available for borrowing from school library

Absences from Class: Students who miss classes due to absence or excursions must negotiate with the class teacher to catch up missed work.

Use of IT in Class: A Google Classroom has been set up for this class. Students will be required to log into this Google Classroom regularly to access course material. Students must bring their Chromebook to all lessons, however, the use of these devices in class will be at the discretion of the teacher.

Homework: Any homework will be directly related to instruction and course requirements, will be assessed appropriately and may impact upon student grades. Examples of homework may include; catch up on missed classwork, revision of classwork, study for tests, assignment work, or preparation for a class presentation.

Late Work: Extensions may be negotiated with individual teachers before the due date

Plagiarism: Plagiarism is copying or using another's work and claiming it as your own. This includes copying, cutting and pasting text or using ideas directly from a text, the internet or some other source without appropriate referencing. The use of Generative AI to produce your work, or edit it so that it no longer reflects your work, is a form of plagiarism. If this happens, work may not be graded and students will be asked to discuss the assessment with the classroom teacher and Executive Teacher for that subject. If a teacher suspects a student may have plagiarised their work they may choose to assess the student in an alternative way, such as verbally or under test conditions. Parents may be contacted as part of this process.

Assessment Portfolio: This contains evidence of work from the opportunities the students have been provided to demonstrate elements of the achievement standard.

Portfolio Assessment Tasks for this subject will include:
